DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they include the following reference character(s) not mentioned in the description: "44" is not in the specification. Corrected drawing sheets, or amendment to the specification to add the reference character(s) in the description, are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because line 3 recites the legal term "said" which should be changed to "the". Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Objections

3. Claim 4 is objected to because of the following informalities: Claim 4 recites dependency upon claim 1, however, the mounting bracket and collar were introduced in claim 2. For examining purposes the examiner has assumed claim 4 to be dependent upon claim 2. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dunbridge et al. (US2001/0022246 A1) and in further view of Geschwender (US 4,611,684 A).

With respect to claim 1, Dunbridge et al. discloses an apparatus for mounting a power tool 32 to a vehicle 10, said vehicle having a frame member 18, said power tool having a battery pack 50, a tool shaft member 34, and a means 32 (reference numeral used twice in publication) for controlling an on/off mode of the tool, a transmission system (or chain, not numbered), means 42,46 for mounting said tool to said vehicle, first means 40 for coupling said tool shaft to a driven wheel 22, and a second means 38 for coupling said transmission to said vehicle, as shown in figures 1-7. Dunbridge et al. does not disclose a "free wheel assembly" for preventing damage to motor when going in reverse. Geschwender does disclose a free wheel assembly or ratchet wheel on a powered scooter for preventing the power plant from reverse rotation which can cause damage, as recited in column 4, lines 44-61. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have provided the first coupling means of the motorized scooter of Dunbridge et al. with a free wheel assembly of Geschwender in order to prevent damage to the tool motor when the vehicle goes in reverse or if the tool is off.

With respect to claim 2, Dunbridge et al. discloses said mounting bracket as forming a collar member 44 coupled to said mounting bracket 42, wherein said tool is at a predetermined angle relative to the longitudinal axis of the vehicle, as shown in figures 3, 4, and 6.

With respect to claim 3, Dunbridge discloses a holding device 60 for releasably secure the tool to the mounting plate, as shown in figures 6 and 7.

With respect to claim 4, Dunbridge discloses the tool as having a shaft receiving member, (or chuck, not numbered), as shown in figure 3.
